Sport Alliance for the Environment

FINISHING THE RACE

The final months of Green League were aimed to set-up of Communities of Practice (CoPs) & arrangement of local Sport Panels, to organise the final conference in Brussels, set-up a digital form of MoU and produced some videos with popular athletes.

"The Green League project is a perfect example how we can bring awareness to things that are usually not thought about. Everything is connected, so is sport and environment. With this project we managed to showcase how we can and should live together with nature and minimise our impacts on it."

-Out of the Box International

"Promoting the Green League was both fun and challenging in terms of how to reach people and raise environmental awareness among young athletes and families. It has been an incredible journey and the developed resources and experiences can help each of us on a personal and organisational level."

Final Conference

Out of the Box organised the final EU Green League Conference in Brussels on Friday 24th of January.

The final conference aimed at exploiting the project results, advocating for a greener sport sector with sport stakeholders and reached out policy-makers and relevant sport stakeholders in order to mainstream the use of sport for environmental education, and upscale the Green League Model across European countries.

Additionally, in panel discussions were participated: Sara Massini, European Non-Governmental Sports Organisation, Ernest Kovacs, Project Manager, ACR and Nevena Vukasinovic, Environmental expert.

The project was an enormous success, with more than 20 events implemented in our countries. We were thrilled to welcome around 600 participants in total for the 8 events that took place in each country of the partners, with 200 participants per country for the amazing tournaments, relay races and final ceremony, and around 50 participants per country for the inspiring local panels.
